

PORT ARTHUR BATTLE

Further Particulars How That Place Was Captured.

COMPLETE JAPANESE VICTORY.

They Only Lost 250 Men While the Chinese Lost Over 1,000—Several Thousand Chinese Were Taken Prisoners. Immense Quantities of Ammunition and Stores Were Also Captured.

HIROSHIMA, Japan, Nov. 26.—Port Arthur is in possession of the Japanese. Details of its capture is received here in a dispatch sent by Admiral Ito, commander of the Japanese navy, from Port Arthur. The dispatch says:

This place was captured by Marshal Oyama on Thursday. The united squadrons stood off shore merely attracting the attention of the coast batteries. Since Friday morning the men of the fleet have been hard at work removing the torpedoes and protecting the mouth of the entrance to the fort. The dockyard, arsenal and ships in the port have been handed over to the Japanese navy department. The dockyard and arsenal are in perfect working order.

For over a fortnight past Count Oyama's army had been steadily marching in two divisions down the peninsula to Port Arthur, keeping in touch as far as possible with the Japanese fleet. The country was very difficult of passage, especially for the artillery. Except in the cultivated valleys there were practically no roads. The men worked cheerfully. No organized resistance was offered by the Chinese troops for three-quarters of the march. Since then, however, there were occasional brushes with the enemy. The villages along the line of march yielded little in the way of supplies. Some of them were looted before the Japanese arrived.

On Tuesday the right division's advance guard had a skirmish with the enemy, who retired in good order. The enemy's positions were reconnoitered and found to be strong and held in force. In the afternoon the fort and village of Shuisy-Ching was captured. Both divisions moved forward during the night. Early in the morning the right division crept up the range of low hills to the northwest of Port Arthur and carried them with a rush. Guns were then dragged up and fire opened on a strong redoubt about 1,000 yards distant. The enemy returned the fire briskly. The Japanese infantry advanced against a well directed fire without faltering.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the fort was carried by storm in a most gallant fashion. The Chinese stood for a minute or two against the final onslaught, fighting fiercely. Then they fled toward the dockyard. The right division then advanced in force against the Kokinsan fort, which was armed with several heavy Krupp guns, which were well served. Scores of men were killed or wounded in this brief advance. The fort was strengthened by trenches and loopholed mud walls, but all were carried without difficulty. At noon the fort itself was stormed and captured after a short but desperate fight.

By 3 o'clock in the afternoon the right division was in full possession of the western part of the stronghold. Meanwhile the left division had been fiercely engaged on the southeast where the ground was less difficult, but far from easy. Advancing over the hills the first division had to clear the enemy out of some outlying work apparently of recent construction. Then their progress was momentarily checked by a heavy fire from three forts that were connected by trenches. These forts were strongly held, and were well placed on the highest ground in the vicinity. The Japanese artillery and the Chinese guns in the forts kept up a steady fire. The latter were all heavy pieces, and they pounded away for some time at the Japanese infantry, who, in the meantime, were advancing all along the line, taking skillful advantage of the brushwood and other cover.

The final assault was splendidly delivered, the enemy being driven headlong from the works after making a gallant stand. By evening Port Arthur was in possession of the Japanese, but the enemy still held some eight or 10 redoubts with a total of about 20 guns on the coast line. The Japanese bivouaced on the hills and captured forts. Early Thursday morning Lo Ma and the other forts were attacked in succession, all being captured without serious loss on the Japanese side. It is estimated that the Chinese loss was over 1,000 killed and wounded. Several thousand were taken prisoners. The Japanese lost 250 men. The Japanese have taken quite 80 guns and mortars that were in use in the captured forts and redoubts and many others that were found in the dockyard. They have also captured an immense quantity of ammunition, completely equipped torpedo stores and large quantities of rice and beans.

A dispatch boat has left Ping-Yang inlet for Port Arthur, conveying the emperor's congratulations to Count Oyama and his thanks to the troops.

Field Marshal Count Oyama's Report.

HIROSHIMA, Japan, Nov. 26.—Field Marshal Count Oyama, whose army captured Port Arthur, reports as follows:

The second army began the attack on the landward forts at Port Arthur at dawn, Nov. 21. The Chinese offered a very strong resistance until, finally, we seized the forts to the west of the cavalry and artillery parade grounds at 8:30 o'clock. We took the fort on Golden Hill at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Nov. 22, all the other forts were taken. Over 200 Japanese officers and men were killed or wounded. The Chinese loss was over 1,000 killed and several thousand prisoners captured. The spoils are abundant and includes a specially large number of large guns and a quantity of ammunition. The Chinese garrison, at the lowest estimate, was 20,000 men.

PORT ARTHUR BURNING.

The Fighting Still Going on Between the Two Armies.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A Chee-Foo dispatch to The Times says that Port Arthur is still burning. Twelve Japanese warships have been seen there. The Chinese fleet is at Wei-Hai-Wei.

EIGHT MEN

With Machinery Now Do the Work 300 Used to Do—Prices Ought to Come Down.

BRADDOCK, Pa., Nov. 19.—In 1891 a young electrician, now in Paris, on looking through Carnegie's great steel-plant here, casually suggested that electricity could be made to operate the widely-separated pieces of machinery at a saving of many thousands a year.

To-day Andrew Carnegie visited the plant for the first time in two years and saw electricity doing the work. This improvement, together with others, makes it possible for eight men to do the work 300 did in 1891. Of course, Mr. Carnegie will now be able to underbid all his competitors.

One of the improvements is called a "soaking pit." Each "soaking pit" takes the place of ten reheating furnaces. The pits will revolutionize the steel-plant business. Electric cranes, the first in the world, will lift the blooms out of the "soaking pits."

From Braddock Mr. Carnegie went to Homestead, where he learned that he is the owner of the largest bloom mill in the world. When he was told that one year's output if rolled into a shaft five feet in diameter would make a column twenty-five miles high, he said: "How wonderful!"

He saw a 25-inch beam weighing 100 pounds to the foot cut in two in twelve seconds by a saw which has no teeth, but the circumference of which travels at the rate of six miles per minute.

In another shop Mr. Carnegie saw an English walnut cracked under a press whose delicate touch did not break the kernel. Then he saw a piece of steel ten inches in diameter and a foot high mashed in it as thin as paper.

McIlvain & Humphreys.

The painters and paper-hangers have been at work of late at McIlvain & Humphreys, furniture and undertaking establishment on Sutton street and have transformed it into one of the handsomest business houses in Maysville. The public, however, are not especially interested in this. It is the fine line of furniture the firm is displaying that the people should see. The firm's stock is the largest they have ever offered, consisting of everything kept in a first-class furniture store, from the lowest-priced goods to the most elegant and costly.

And the firm also take especial pride in their undertaking department. It is not surpassed anywhere. Their stock of caskets, burial robes, &c., is the largest in the city and nothing more elegant in this line is manufactured. They have fitted up, in tasteful manner, a room on the second floor especially for displaying their caskets and burial robes. Their hearses, three in number, are the handsomest and most elegant made. Mr. George Griffin, who has charge of this department, has had years of experience as undertaker and embalmer. He can be found at the store, night and day.

The firm invite inspection of their line of goods, and will take pleasure in showing anyone through their place of business. The patronage of the public solicited.

Thanksgiving Services.

In accordance with the following circular letter from Bishop Maes, mass will be celebrated in St. Patrick's Church, this city, at 9 o'clock a. m. next Thursday:

Rev. Dear Sir: Thankfulness springs from a noble heart and its religious manifestation ensures enduring blessings from Almighty God.

You are hereby directed to have Thanksgiving services in your church on the morning of Thursday, November 29th, which will be a day of Thanksgiving for all our people and for the civil authorities whose piety selected it.

Celebrate holy mass—a solemn one if possible—and invite your parishioners to it. Let it be followed by benediction with the blessed sacrament, God's best gift, mysterious and divine, to man. And may our acknowledgement of our Lord's merciful providence over us all, secure his temporal and eternal blessings to priests and Catholic people, and to all who enjoy the benefits of our land of freedom.

This letter shall be read at all the masses, on Sunday, November 25th, 1894. With a blessing, Sincerely yours in C. J., CAMILLUS P. MAES, Bishop of Covington.

Octave of all Saints, Nov. 8th, '94.

What Shall I Take ?

Is the anxious question asked by those who are not feeling well—have no appetite—are out of sorts—have no energy—feel tired out. Perhaps you are feeling sick yourself!

Many medicines are recommended, doctors consulted—in many cases much money spent in this search for health—and yet it can all be avoided.

Wise people commence at once taking

Brown's Iron Bitters

and are soon made well and strong. Nearly every prescription given by physicians for such troubles contains IRON—which some people say they cannot take. Try Brown's Iron Bitters—it is warranted not to give headache, stain the teeth or cause constipation as all other Iron Medicines do.

Sheriff of Mason County.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, a refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.
